Here Are Some of His Show Ideas:

Why Moderate Voters Matter in Elections

They are the “DECIDERS”. Neither conservatives (38%) nor liberals (23%) can garner 50.1% of the vote on their own, so they need a substantial number of moderates (34%) to win.

What is a Moderate Voter?

A Moderate Voter is one of almost 75 million voters in the United States. They are less concerned about ideology and MORE WILLING to “mix and match” ideas of both liberals and conservatives.

4 Common Myths about Moderate Voters

Many believe Moderate Voters don't matter because they are not the majority in either party, have no views and only split the difference between liberals and conservatives, lack passion and are the same as Independent Voters. Hear Gary to find out how WRONG these myths are!
